Services for Whom and Payment of Services

September 28, 1988

WHEREAS, it is the policy of the Industrial Commission of Ohio and the Bureau of Workers' Compensation to provide due process to all parties in interest with respect to a workers' compensation claim and,

WHEREAS, due process can best be served by securing the services of professional interpreters when parties in interest cannot otherwise communicate during hearings, medical examinations, or other similar circumstances;

BE IT RESOLVED, that the services of interpreters will be secured, where ordered or scheduled by the Industrial Commission, for hearings, medical examinations, or other similar circumstances involving individuals who could not otherwise communicate due to foreign language or deafness. Payment for such services shall be made from the Surplus Fund; involving a non-complying employer, such cost shall be recouped from the employer.
